David Hartley recently retired after 40+ years working in the private and public sectors and is thoroughly enjoying using his freedom to indulge his interests particularly hill walking, reading, going to the cinema and playing bridge as well as spending much more time with friends and family.

Moving On Up: Discovering Scotland's Mountains

"A late life, traumatic change in circumstances took me to Glen Coe and the Bealach Dearg between Bidean nam Bian and Stob Coire Sgreamhach overlooking the Lost Valley and Glen Etive. What a view! I was hooked. Now, nearly 10 years on, having climbed all of Scotland's Munros and all bar one of the Corbetts (at the time of writing) I'd like to share some of my experiences; the sense of wonder at the beauty of Scotland's mountains, the friendships I've built, the struggles and the feeling of achievement."
